BRITISH GOVERNMENT SHOULD CONSIDER PUTTING MORE PRESSURE ON JAPAN

Premier's Complacency In Reference To Far East Is Deplored

London, November 3. THE "FINANCIAL TIMES" DEPLORES THE COMPLACENCY of the Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain's reference to the Far East in the House of Commons on November 1, especially so soon after the unusually strongly worded Note by Washington to Japan. The British Government never made a general demarche of this nature.

The failure of Britain and America to co-operate in the Far East has frequently been a matter for surprised comment.

The "Financial Times" recalls the Japanese Ambassador to Italy, Mr. Shiratori's recent boast that British pre-eminence in China will end when the new China created by Japan becomes a second Manchukuo.

"This evidently is a genuine expression of the wishes of those controlling Japan and we know from past experience that totalitarian countries are capable of defying a good many nineteenth-century laws concerning the supply of capital," says the paper.

"The whole subject deserves much more thorough discussion than has yet been received in this country and the British Government should consider effective means at our disposal for putting more pressure on Japan than the polite interchange of opinion which for some months has been going on between the British Ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie, and the Japanese Foreign Office," the paper concludes.—Reuter.

Japan Wants Warm Covering For Cold Financial Weather

Shanghai, November 3. The statement of the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in the House of Commons on Tuesday, in which he declared that Mr. Clement Attlee was "too gloomy" over the future of British trade in China and emphasised that after the war was over Japan would need Britain's financial help, is caustically taken to task by the local American newspaper "Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury."

After outlining some of the most glaring examples of Japanese interference with Britain's trade in China in a leader, to-day, the paper declares that "his withers" are not wrung by what has been happening thus far to British trade interests and personnel in Japanese administered China.

Mr. Chamberlain, the paper continues, hopefully chirps his prayerful anticipation that Japan will want some monetary favours from Britain. This expectation will certainly be fully realised.

Japan does not only want to flay the Lion but to utilise its help to establish a warm covering in the cold financial weather to come.

The smug anticipation in good times to come finds little support from any informed Britons on the spot.

What Japan wants ultimate—

Lingnan Students Will Resume Classes In H.K.

ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED with the Hongkong University whereby the Lingnan University of Canton will resume classes in Hongkong on November 12.

Students are requested to register on that afternoon at the office which will be established in the administrative block of the University, and regular classes will be held daily from 5.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. for members of the College of Arts, College of Engineering and a few departments of the College of Natural Sciences.

The problem of dormitories for the students is not likely to prove serious as the families of most of the students are in Hongkong.

An experimental farm for the College of Agriculture is being bought in the New Territories.

SESSIONS TRIAL FOR GUNNERS

Kennedy Town Robbery

Gunnery John Thomas Phelan and Frederick Dennis Hamer, Royal Artillery, were committed by Mr. H. R. Butters at Central Magistrate yesterday to stand their trials at the Criminal Sessions on a charge of robbery.

Lower court proceedings had an unusual conclusion when Phelan, after having been cautioned, replied in answer to His Worship's question whether he had anything to say: "I am guilty of the charge."

Phelan also asked to be remanded in military custody, complaining that he had neither sufficient food nor facilities in shaving in prison. This was refused. His Worship ascertaining from the prosecuting officer that remand prisoners could have their food sent in.

Detective-Sergeant J. Allen, prosecuting, stated that complainant in the charge was one Leung Ting. (Continued on Back Page)

The Government will move an amendment in which it notes the existing deficiencies and welcomes the Government's decision to entrust the responsibility for the system to a special Minister; also declares approval of the Government's determination to complete with utmost speed measures necessary to provide for the country's needs.

Sir John Anderson, Lord Privy Seal, who is the special Minister, will make his debut as a Cabinet member in the course of the debate.—Reuter.

MARSHAL LI CHAI-SUM TO COMMAND TROOPS IN KWANGTUNG

Chinese, On West River, Preparing To Launch Counter-Attack

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT)

Yungyuan, November 2. CHINESE TROOPS ARE REPORTED TO BE CONCENTRATED on the West River and North River ready to launch a counter-attack on the Japanese forces. General Yu Hon-mou, Commander-in-chief of the Provincial forces, is located at a base about 60 miles from Canton.

The brigade under Major-General Chen Min-wu, is being replaced following a heavy engagement with the enemy in Tsung-shing. The brigade was stationed at Fatsan and rushed to the East River Valley at short notice.

Japanese troops are pushing northward from Chungking and Fayuan along the east of the Canton-Hankow Railway. The Central authorities are paying great attention to the military situation in Kwangtung. The Japanese advance to the west along the West River seems to have slackened, as they are no farther than Samshul. Crack Chinese units are located at Dowshing, 30 miles west of Samshul.

It is again reported that Marshal LI CHAI-SUM, who paid an official visit to Hongkong in 1927 in his capacity as Head of the Kwangtung Government, has been appointed to command troops in Kwangtung and Kwangsi. He was last heard of in Kwangsi and will be in this province shortly. Though a native of Kwangtung, many of the divisional commanders here and others at the Yangtze front served under Marshal Li during the Northern expedition. He is held in high esteem by foreigners in South China.

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

Interesting Talk On Shintoism

At the meeting of the Theosophical Society last evening, Mr. D. O. Silva gave an interesting lecture on Shintoism.

Shinto, or Shintoism, the so-called national religion of Japan, with approximately 100,000 shrines, divided into 10 sects counting 20 million or more adherents served by 16,000 shrine attendants, dates from the dawn of Japanese history and is intimately associated with the mythology of the race.

Shinto is not a religion, since it has no dogmas, no ethical code, and no sacred book. The absence of a code of morals is accounted for by the innate perfection of the Japanese people, who having descended from the kami (gods), have no evil inclinations, such as Occidentals have, to overcome, and whose manners and customs need no reform. Since there is no doctrinal system, the faith does not concern itself about a future state. The precepts of the different sects, which differ only in a few details of ceremony, are: "Follow the impulse of your nature and obey your Emperor."

Shintoism aims at the happiness of earthly life, and assumes that the souls of the departed can essentially aid in securing it. They are conceived, therefore, to be present and summoned by those who come to them, by clapping hands, a bell, a drum, etc.

NO SAINTS

The Shinto gods are by no means the pure and exalted forms which Buddhism presents to us, no saints through the overcoming of sensual pleasure, but affected by all human feelings and weaknesses, and taking pleasure in everything that adds enjoyment and amusement to existence.

Accordingly their worshippers seek to delight them on their festivals, not only with meat and drink, but also by theatrical processions, pantomimes, and so on, and do not think it objectionable that streets leading to certain of their shrines contain houses dedicated to the worship of Aphrodite. Of the servants of the kami, purity of the body is required rather than purity of the heart.

The Shinto Kannushi do not shave their heads, as the Buddhist bonzes do, and only wear special dress when exercising their office. They neither practice celibacy nor have monasteries. Shinto worship has an elaborate ritual and numerous rules as to purification. From the earliest period the cult exacted scrupulous cleanliness—indeed, we might say it regarded physical impurity as identical with moral impurity, and intolerable to the gods.

It has always been a religion of ablutions. The Japanese love of cleanliness has been maintained, and was probably initiated, by their religion. The most important of all Shinto ceremonies is the ceremony of purification, o-harae, as it is called, or the casting out of evils.

All the deities confer prosperity, avert sickness, cure sterility, bestow literary talents, endow the public with prowess, and so on.

THEFT OF WATCHES

Sentences of three months' and six months' hard labour, respectively, were passed on Chan Siu-ye, 25, and Lam Chuen, 24, both unemployed, when they were convicted before Mr. R. Edwards at Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of larceny of 12 wrist watches valued at $75, property of the Central Watch Company.

Jewellery to the value of $923 was reported stolen from her rooms at St. Paul's Hotel by Mrs. Louis.

"NOTHING BUT CAMOUFLAGED PROSTITUTION"

Magistrate's Comment On Escort Bureaux

"It is nothing but camouflaged prostitution. From the evidence of one of the girls, who admitted she has practised prostitution while working as a guide, the registration of these escort bureaux with the S.C.A. seems to me to be a form of tolerated prostitution."

These remarks were made by Mr. H. R. Butters, Senior Magistrate, at the Central Magistracy yesterday during the continuation of the case in which two Chinese women, Chu Po-chu, 30, and Chau Lo-sam, are charged with trafficking in women and girls, harbouring them and exercising control over prostitutes. The case was adjourned till this afternoon.

During the hearing, Miss P. Harrop, Lady Assistant to the Secretary of Chinese Affairs, stated that the bureaux were registered with the S.C.A. as also were the girls employed by them.

The girls, who were described as guides, or escorts, were taken out at the rate of $1 an hour, half going to the proprietor and half to the individual girl.

NO PROOF

Miss Harrop agreed with His Worship that employees of these bureaux were sent for by telephone and met their customers in hotels, but the S.C.A. have failed so far to prove that prostitution was carried on in these establishments.

His Worship, I fall to see how girls, such as those in this case, who have been in the Colony for only a short while, can act as guides in the proper sense. The girls have admitted they were registered as prostitutes in Swatow by the defendants. On coming to Hongkong, and learning that prostitution is prohibited here, they have taken up work as guides in the escort bureaux. It is nothing but camouflaged prostitution."

AMAH STEALS FROM MISTRESS

Sentence of three months' imprisonment with hard labour was passed by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Court yesterday on a 34-year-old amah, Ng Lin-ho, who pleaded guilty to larceny of a suitcase, containing money and jewellery to a total value of $1,284, from her mistress, Lau Sze-mul, 29, of No. 365, Shanghai Street.

Charges of receiving stolen property against Chan Luk, 44, an amah employed next door, were withdrawn.

CONFIDE IN FAITH
PRIOR

Fifteen is too young to be out on the streets each night and you and your husband are responsible if you permit this state of affairs. Even good boys can get into trouble. Try and interest him in a pastime which keeps him in. Provide amusement at home for him. Do not nag, but point out the injury to his health by late hours, as well as the time he is wasting.

Instructive reading, writing, games, a certain hobby when he is older he will wish for the free hours that he throws away. Have your husband give the lad a good talking to; it is the father's place to take action in this instance.

A STENOGRAPHER writes of a man in her office suggesting a dinner invitation, thus far she has not had to make a definite answer, but wishes to know what to say when the point actually arises.

In the first place you know that man and I don't. But remember that such an invitation is not that of merely two workers together sharing a meal at the end of an unexpectedly long day. If that were all there were to it there is no reason why you shouldn't.

But from what you say there will be premeditation behind the invitation. What is at the back of the invitation? And do you want to destroy the detachment with which you can do his work, as well as that of any of the other men? If you will answer these questions honestly to yourself there will be no doubt as to your answer to the invitation when it comes.

A SISTER inquires if it is correct for her to be the attendant of her future sister-in-law, especially as her brother has always promised she should be. There are several brothers and sisters in the bride's family?

Naturally you would be disappointed in this case. There is no reason why the groom's sister should not be a bridesmaid at her brother's wedding. In fact, when the bridegroom has a sister she should be included in the wedding party out of courtesy to him, if for no other reason. However, there is nothing you or anyone else can do if the bride insists on having her sisters for her attendants.

ETIQUETTE wishes to be informed about restaurant dining. How do the man and woman generally sit? If two couples at a hotel are placed at a table on the edge of the dance floor where does the woman sit?

Most tables for two require the escort and the lady to sit opposite each other. If they are seated at a large table enough for four, then the woman should be given the chair with the best view and the man should sit at the woman's left. When the tables are placed diagonally with one corner nearest the dance floor, the two women should be seated facing toward the dancing, while the men sit with their backs to it.

PUZZLED does not know exactly how to costume herself in the evening. On several occasions gentlemen have invited her to dances and they have arrived at her home in business suits, while she was attired in a dinner or party frock.

When you receive an engagement, either verbally or written, it is your place to inquire whether the guests invited are "dressing." This word when used in such a sense signifies dinner or formal attire, your to-be escort will inform you of the state of attire and, if not, he will find out for you. When accepting an invitation from a woman you are correct to ask her the same question.

Though it is done, women wearing dinner gowns and men in business suits, especially here in the Colony, it is not a correct practice. If a business suit is worn by your escort, this should mean that you wear a short frock on the afternoon order in, silk or fairly dressy material.

A Man wishes to give a birthday gift to a woman he knows only slightly. He asks if this is proper and what he could send her?

It is not improper to send the lady a gift on her birthday, though you have only known her for several months. However, do not make it an expensive gift. You may find that she would feel under obligation to you.

A book, flowers, candy, a small charm for her charm bracelet or an inexpensive art study; any of these, or similar gifts, would be very welcome and not out of place.

(Each week in this column, FAITH PRIOR answers questions of a personal nature submitted by readers of the Daily Press.)

BELOW THE KNEES

Select The Daring And Wear The New Shoes

HEALTH AND YOUR LEGS

FEET, FEET, FEET, marching up and down the Colony streets, dancing on the polished ballroom floors, on display when sitting in motor car, bus, sofa or ferry boat.

Your friends and enemies have the habit of spotting your feet, ankles and legs the very first glance. And what does your mirror tell you about yours?

Shoes have new and interesting features this season. There are half-an-inch thick soles, novel heel treatments, high and low in cut of vamps, many are coloured, in sober dark leathers, deep wine reds, dark plums, dark blue and browns with a golden glow. Bright pipings sparkle everywhere. Shoes can improve your feet or make them horrible implements.

The tall or short lady can find shoes which will help her in the height problem. You can make your foot slim by pulling on a glove-like pump of kid or Lastex suede which feels like tissue paper and clings to your foot.

In the sport costume have the clumpy, square appearance, which is very popular this winter, when you wear the wedge sole, scooped out. For week-ends in the country heeled moccasins are comfortable and assure firm footing.

You will be right up in the fashion of feet if you select the daring and wear the new shoes.

PLENTY OF COLOUR

"Harpers" has devoted several pages in a recent issue to outstanding smart and clever footwear using plenty of colour which blend with various winter costumes.

Shoes are just half of the below the knee picture. Legs are the other half and just as important. Please do something about the hair on your legs if you are not a twice-weekly leg shaver. Keep your legs free of hair or lacerations, have them slick and smooth. Our forefathers may have needed hairy legs but we certainly do not these days. Just several swipes of the razor twice a week and your limbs are neat and clean. Then your new hose will look dashing and produce interesting legs.

One fourth of you is legs; so take a look in the mirror when wearing a suit. You take infinite care of your hands, nails and complexion, comparatively infinitesimal areas, yet expect your legs to just get along as best they can. When you are down to the only pair of hose you have, out you go and invest in a dozen pairs of stockings at once; perhaps, the wrong colour. Do you stop to consider the colour of your ensembles, tone of your skin or the fashion news of the season?

FEW FLARING

The skirts this year are short and quite a few flaring, take care. This gives legs the spotlights. Today you cannot say one colour hose goes with everything. The bright reds take one shade of stocking, your plum shade another. The colours are powdery and soft. All are basically beige and all are incredibly thin.

New tricks in stockings this year, one the sun-dye process that keeps colours clear under man-made light as well as the great outdoors; a love elasticity that prevents wrinkling is another. And a special construction to make heels cling, also the hairline seems to give length and slimmess.

Your stockings should blend with your dress and harmonise with your shoes. One strong point, and do not forget it when purchasing hose; your colours must be ladylike and subtle.

While on the subject of feet and legs may we suggest you become a monthly customer for the chiropodist? You will notice the pleasure of walking and dancing and keeping your feet healthy. Keep your heel tabs built up at all times, run-over heels not only look horrible but are injurious to your health.

And one more bit of advice—knees are no new subject to men or women, so cover them up. It is only one girl in million who can truly say, "I know I have good-looking knees!"

How Does It Stay There?

How the strapless corage of this gown remained in position was no mystery to the folk who saw it at Derek Sheffington's autumn dress show in London. They knew that concealed stiffening did the trick. But what did intrigue them was: "How does that flower on her shoulder stay put?" The answer is... adhesive tape.

Round The Shops

Fifty-two days! Then you will find yourselves wishing everyone a "Very Merry Christmas!" But, in the meantime, there are parties and more parties with plenty of birthdays and anniversaries thrown in. All this means that each of you have plenty of shopping to do. Have courage, the stores are just waiting to serve you!

Evening Finery

No decision on the new evening dress for the special ball or dinner engagement? Step into Lane Crawford's Gown Salon. Satin, chiffon, taffeta, crepes, velvet, the new matlessa are styled into very chic evening gowns. Trims in flowers, rhinestones, sequins, spangles, beading, make the striking note and contrast in these creations.

While you are investigating the ready-to-wear, spot the very new compacts, wood, leather, enamel, polished steel; in flat, small, round, square styles. Very attractive, different and lovely for gifts. The new evening and dress vanities are works of art.

They are divided into various separate compartments, cigarette, notes, powder, rouge, lipstick, comb and money sections. The shapes are quite new and the lovely work on the polished steel is amazing in its novelty and cleverness. They are a bit expensive but well worth the price.

Sporty Knits

A two-piece knit suit is the "love" of our lives in the chilly weather. The new ones at Mrs. Willy's in Metropole Hotel Building, are very high style in creation and colour. You would not recognize the knit jerseys of older days, their colours and styles keeping along with the machine hand-made in appearance. Bolero jackets, or with buttons and slippers which have plain, pleated in front or flared skirts, have a third piece in a contrasting or blending sweater which makes a perfect looking suit and is serviceable.

New furs and evening gowns will be in shortly for this specialty shop.

The Unusual Accessories

The trifles which take our money, and which many times "just makes" the outfit and can be worn with several various costumes, are dear to all women's hearts.

Mayos has quite a large selection in the unusual and different, gadgets. Vells, large and small, in colours for either your hat or evening headgear; feathers, flowers, hair clips which could be worn on hats, dresses or in the hair. The earrings, bracelets, clips, pins, rings, necklaces and other jewelry are displayed in small quantities, but each piece a costume addition.

The new cigarette cases of glass and gold are quite exotic and the little snuff boxes of the same compound and style make lovely gifts.

The new buckles and hat pins are quaint and attractive and give the necessary zip to a dress or suit picture.

Costume of Evening

Parties, parties, parties and you know perfectly well one evening gown cannot take on the whole winter dress picture job. Sleek, sophistication in black or colours, full skirted bouffant, rustling moire, slinky satin or plain tailored gowns are on review in Excella's Dress Salon in Kowloon.

There are a few evening wraps of velvet lined in satin to keep you warm winter evenings. The sleeve and collar treatment vary. New shipments of plaids, checks, sport and afternoon attire are expected on the Empress of Japan for this shop.

AS MAN TO MAN, AND A COMPARISON

NOT VERY FREQUENTLY do we dig up the male species for inspection or comparison on this page. However, a short bit of argument made us ponder over a new sidelight on the art of grooming. And we let you be the judge.

The long standing tradition is to the effect that, like cats, women are the fastidious sex. Because of the inherent structure of the feminine mind, supposedly, they have a nicer taste in the amenities of civilized existence, and because they have more time at their disposal for the purpose, the feminine person is more carefully gardened and garnished than that of the ramish and rufinly male.

Now, "Is dis a fact?"

Women, as a group, have more time to devote to perfecting their persons than men. This is probably true, but whether they put this asset to as profitable a use is open to question. Granted!

The hours spent by feminine supplicants with cosmeticians, hairdressers, manicurists, pedicurers, reducing agents, masseuses, dress-makers, hair designers and other beauty technicians, must be far in excess of those invested by the less-leisured male in barber shops, gymnasiums, tailors and boot-makers, and yet the result is seldom apparent to the degree implied by the discrepancy in beauty minutes. In many cases here in Hongkong men are more chic than their wives or the ladies of their heart. True!

FOOTWEAR

What self-respecting man, for example, will appear under any circumstances at all without his footwear properly cleaned and polished, and yet many women, whose shoes for the most part neither require nor would permit of daily shining by reason of their material and finish, roam the streets and haunt hotels in soiled, dusty and even downright damaged shoes.

A man changes his collar at the very least once a day, along with most of his other linen, and twice if he's going out in the evening. Yet, the supposedly fastidious female will wear a white collar on a tailored dress, or even a suit blouse for a week before it occurs to her to consign it to the linen hamper.

A gentleman's hands are invariably as clean as soap and scrubbing brush can make them. Most of the times, but either because such treatment is damaging to the lacquer on their nails or for some more occult reason, women of chic in other respects may not infrequently be discovered to have grubby fingers. Absolutely!

FIRST POINT

The first point in a man's normal daily routine is cropping his beard and that he repeats again while dressing for dinner, but everyone is familiar with the woman who neglects regularly to shave her legs with the result that her stockings have a reforested look for all the world like Birmam Wood coming to Dunsmuir. Or, even worse, thinks no one will notice that so small underarm stubble when she's in evening or bathing clothes. Admitted!

The truth of the whole matter seems to be that, while nobody hesitates to call a man's attention to lapses of taste in his person or appearance, even women are reluctant to mention revolution. One of these days some youth around Hongkong upon meeting his girl for lunch at a hotel or club will not salute her with, "Dear, you look simply divine to-day." He will sternly admonish her, "You can go right home and wash your face, throw that last fortnight's powder in the dustbin, get a fresh pair of gloves and scrub your nails. Then I'll buy you some gin and spinach and not before." It is possible!

NEWS ABOUT THE SERVICES

ROYAL NAVY

SENIOR OFFICERS' COURSES
The following dates have been approved for senior officers' courses and for the staff course of 1939:—
Staff Course, Greenwich.—January 10 to December 15.
Technical Courses, Portsmouth.—January 9 to March 10; April 24 to June 23; August 14 to October 13; October 16 to December 15.
Senior Officers' War Courses, Greenwich.—March 13 to July 21; October 9 to February 16, 1940.
Tactical Courses, Portsmouth.—May 8 to July 21; September 25 to December 8.
The period from January 16 to March 24, which would normally have been occupied by the first Tactical Course of 1939, has been appropriated for the theoretical investigation of tactical and strategic problems at the Tactical School.

CAPTAIN C. E. S. FARRANT
Commander C. E. S. Farrant, who relinquished recently the command of the cruiser Dragon in reserve at the Nore, has been placed on the retired list with the rank of captain after 34 years in the Navy.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Admiralty Fleet Orders issued on October 21 refer to a report received from the South America Division of the America and West Indies Station in which the Commander draws attention to the desirability of naval and Royal Marine personnel acquiring a knowledge of the Spanish language.

In view of the obvious advantage of a knowledge of local languages, their Lordships urge naval and marine officers on other stations to lose no opportunity of acquiring some conversational ability in the languages spoken.

Service conditions do not permit of intensive study, and for this reason the appointment of fully qualified interpreters is necessary, but the number of these is limited, and therefore the presence of personnel with a general knowledge of a language can prove extremely useful.

The fact that an officer has acquired some conversational ability in a language is to be specially noted in his reports.

ARMISTICE DAY POPPIES

Officers and ratings in uniform and off duty may wear the poppies which are to be sold for the benefit of ex-Service men and their dependents on November 11. For the purpose of this order the term "off duty" is to be interpreted so as to include all officers and men on board ship or in naval barracks who are not carrying out any specific duty.

ENTRY OF APPRENTICES

The next open competitive examination for the entry of artificer and air apprentices in the Royal Navy will be held during the third week in March next. Candidates must be between 15 and 16 years of age on May 1, 1939.

A limited number with Service claims who reach the qualifying standard will be nominated for entry by the Admiralty from a list recommended by commanders-in-chief and other senior officers; preference being given to orphans whose fathers have been killed in action or lost at sea on active service.

Recommendations must reach the Admiralty by January 1 next.

LESSON DRAWN FROM CRISIS

"Words No Match For Pistols"

Gen. Sir Walter Kirke, Director-General of the Territorial Army, opening a drill hall at Middlesbrough recently, said that we had recently passed through some nerve-racking experiences, and many lessons for the future could already be clearly drawn.

"The first," he said, "is as old as history that 'Where the carcass is, there will the eagles be gathered together.'"

"When the tiger kills, the lesser carnivora are ready to snatch their bit, and the scramble going on for portions of Czechoslovakia shows what a calamity it would be for world peace if the idea got about that the British Empire could not protect its world-wide possessions.

"In such an event the problems of Czechoslovakia might be regarded simultaneously on a far greater scale in every continent."

"A second lesson," he said, "is that we must not carry out any task allotted to us in the way in which officers and men have done it at a few hours' notice."

"Good words and good intentions," he added, "are poor equipment with which to face loaded pistols. We must then be strong, and, rightly or wrongly, we depend on voluntary effort to make us so."

"To-day the door is open wide to everyone who wishes to do his or her bit. In fact, so many doors are open that there may be some uncertainty as to which should be entered."

"I will only say that the door labelled 'Territorial Army' is a very suitable one for any young man with good health and the right spirit."

"It is not only the anti-aircraft portion of the Territorial Army that requires such men. The Territorial Field Army must form the bulk of our effort on land."

"The third lesson is that the Territorial soldier can be relied upon to carry out any task allotted to him. The way in which officers and men have done it at a few hours' notice was beyond all praise."

War Against Malaria

MODERN METHODS EMPLOYED

The conquest of the air, which has lately been developed to a remarkable extent, has accustomed us to the use of aeroplanes for the strangest kinds of merchandise. Nevertheless, the fact that thousands of fish are flown in aeroplanes is not yet common knowledge.

This novel method is used for a special—but certainly very important—purpose. Fish are carried by aeroplane to maintain the fight against one of the most dangerous species of insect in the world, the anophele, the transmitting agent of malaria. In view of the fact that the reports drawn up by numerous medical men state that this dangerous species multiplies in a catastrophic manner and is responsible for a terrible list of maladies that are very frequently fatal, no stone is left unturned to obtain as efficacious a result as possible in the fight against this insect.

GREAT CAMPAIGN

Special species of fish, that are known to be the best destroyers of mosquitoes, are collected in large light metal tanks. They are thus carried in aeroplanes specially built for the purpose, and discharged in the regions watered by the great African river, the Congo. A great campaign has been undertaken for the destruction of mosquitoes by releasing these fish in the waters of the Congo. The machines are already called "express planes for fish" and whole squadrons have already made several flights.

This is one of the most efficacious means of fighting malaria; but there is another that completes it perfectly. The specific remedy for malaria, quinine, in the form of a daily dose of six grains taken as a preventive measure, as prescribed by the Malaria Commission of the League of Nations, is already becoming general practice. Warfare is thus being waged on all fronts against the enemy of the public health, the anophele. This is a fight for a noble cause, the protection of humanity.

For treating cases of malaria, the Malaria Commission of the League of Nations prescribes a daily dose of 15 to 20 grains of quinine to be taken during five to seven days.

103 CHINESE PAPERS CLOSE DOWN

157 Films Censored In Shanghai

A total of 103 Chinese publications for which the Municipal Council had issued registration certificates had ceased publication last month, according to the report of the Commissioner of Police for September, says the "North China Daily News."

Dealing with the month's activities, the report states that 13 newspapers were warned by the Police for publishing incorrect reports or other objectionable articles.

The editor of a Chinese magazine was fined $250 on September 22 at the Shanghai First Special District Court for publishing an indecent article.

Several copies of indecent books were seized during the month at three book stores and were ordered by the Court to be held by the Police pending action against the responsible persons.

During September, registration certificates were issued to 33 Chinese and 3 foreign publications. Up to the end of the month a total of 52 registration certificates had been issued to foreign publications and 278 to Chinese. Of the latter number, 103 have since ceased publication.

FILM CENSORSHIPS

Regarding film censorship, 157 films comprising 31 feature productions, 118 short introductory films and eight newsreels were censored during September in various theatres in the Settlement and the French Concession. Of the feature films, 27 were passed without question, three were approved after certain objectionable parts had been deleted, while the decision over the remaining one was pending at the end of the month.

Of the short films, 111 were passed without question, six were

CONFIDE IN FAITH PRIOR

A MOTHER is very worried about her 15-year-old son, she knows he is a good boy but he insists upon remaining out of the house each night until after 11 p.m. and later. She asks for advice.

Fifteen is too young to be out on the streets each night and you and your husband are responsible if you permit this state of affairs. Even good boys can get into trouble. Try and interest him in a pastime which keeps him in. Provide amusement at home for him. Do not nag, but point out the injury to his health by late hours, as well as the time he is wasting.

Instructive reading, writing, games, a certain hobby when he is older he will wish for the free hours that he throws away. Have your husband give the lad a good talking to; it is the father's place to take action in this instance.

A STENOGRAPHER writes of a man in her office suggesting a dinner invitation, thus far she has not had to make a definite answer, but wishes to know what to say when the point actually arises.

In the first place you know that man and I don't. But remember that such an invitation is not that of merely two workers together sharing a meal at the end of an unexpectedly long day. If that were all there were to it there is no reason why you shouldn't.

But from what you say there will be premeditation behind the invitation. What is at the back of the invitation? And do you want to destroy the detachment with which you can do his work, as well as that of any of the other men? If you will answer these questions honestly to yourself there will be no doubt as to your answer to the invitation, when it comes.

A SISTER inquires if it is correct for her to be the attendant of her future sister-in-law, especially as her brother has always promised she should be. There are several brothers and sisters in the bride's family?

Naturally you would be disappointed in this case. There is no reason why the groom's sister should not be a bridesmaid at her brother's wedding. In fact, when the bridegroom has a sister she should be included in the wedding party out of courtesy to him, if for no other reason. However, there is nothing you or anyone else can do if the bride insists on having her sisters for her attendants.

ETIQUETTE wishes to be informed about restaurant dining. How do the man and woman generally sit? If two couples at a hotel are placed at a table on the edge of the dance floor where does the woman sit?

Most tables for two require the escort and the lady to sit opposite each other. If they are seated at a large table enough for four, then the woman should be given the chair with the best view and the man should sit at the woman's left. When the tables are placed diagonally with one corner nearest the dance floor, the two women should be seated facing toward the dancing, while the men sit with their backs to it.

PUZZLED does not know exactly how to costume herself in the evening. On several occasions gentlemen have invited her to dances and they have arrived at her home in business suits, while she was attired in a dinner or party frock.

When you receive an engagement, either verbally or written, it is your place to inquire whether the guests invited are "dressing." This word when used in such a sense signifies dinner or formal attire; your to-be-escort will inform you of the state of attire and, if not, he will find out for you. When accepting an invitation from a woman you are correct to ask her the same question.

Though it is done, women wearing dinner gowns and men in business suits, especially here in the Colony, it is not a correct practice. If a business suit is worn by your escort, this should mean that you wear a short frock on the afternoon order in silk or fairly dressy material.

A Man wishes to give a birthday gift to a woman he knows only slightly. He asks if this is proper and what he could send her?

It is not improper to send the lady a gift on her birthday, though you have only known her for several months. However, do not make it an expensive gift. You may find that she would feel under obligation to you.

A book, flowers, candy, a small charm for her charm bracelet or an inexpensive art study; any of these, or similar gifts, would be very welcome and not out of place.

(Each week in this column, FAITH PRIOR answers questions of a personal nature submitted by readers of the Daily Press.)

BELOW THE KNEES Select The Daring And Wear The New Shoes

HEALTH AND YOUR LEGS

FEET, FEET, FEET, marching up and down the Colony streets, dancing on the polished ballroom floors, on display when sitting in motor car, bus, sofa or ferry boat.

Your friends and enemies have the habit of spotting your feet, ankles and legs the very first glance. And what does your mirror tell you about yours?

Shoes have new and interesting features this season. There are half-an-inch thick soles, novel heel treatments, high and low in cut of vamps, many are coloured, in sober dark leathers, deep wine reds, dark plums, dark blue and browns with a golden glow. Bright pipings sparkle everywhere. Shoes can improve your feet or make them horrible implements.

The tall or short lady can find shoes which will help her in the height problem. You can make your foot slim by pulling on a glove-like pump of kid or Latex suede which feels like tissue paper and clings to your foot.

In the sport costume have the clumpy, square appearance, which is very popular this winter, when you wear the wedge sole, scooped out. For week-ends in the country heeled moccasins are comfortable and assure firm footing.

You will be right up in the fashion of feet if you select the daring and wear the new shoes.

PLENTY OF COLOUR

"Harpers" has devoted several pages in a recent issue to outstanding smart and clever footwear using plenty of colour which blend with various winter costumes.

Shoes are just half of the below the knee picture. Legs are the other half and just as important. Please do something about the hair on your legs if you are not a twice-weekly leg shaver. Keep your legs free of hair or lacerations, have them slick and smooth. Our forefathers may have needed hairy legs but we certainly do not these days. Just several swipes of the razor twice a week and your limbs are neat and clean. Then your new hose will look dashing and produce interesting legs.

One fourth of you is legs; so take a look in the mirror when wearing a suit. You take infinite care of your hands, nails and complexion, comparatively infinitesimal areas, yet expect your legs to just get along as best they can. When you are down to the only pair of hose you have, out you go and invest in a dozen pairs of stockings at once; perhaps, the wrong colour. Do you stop to consider the colour of your ensembles, tone of your skin or the fashion news of the season?

FEW FLARING

The skirts this year are short and quite a few flaring, take care. This gives legs the spotlights. Today you cannot say one colour hose goes with everything. The bright reds take one shade of stocking, your plum shade another. The colours are powdery and soft. All are basically beige and all are incredibly thin.

New tricks in stockings this year, one the sun-dye process that keeps colours clear under man-made light as well as the great outdoors; a love elasticity that prevents wrinkling is another. And a special construction to make heels cling, also the hairline seams to give length and slimness.

Your stockings should blend with your dress and harmonise with your shoes. One strong point, and do not forget it when purchasing hose; your colours must be ladylike and subtle.

While on the subject of feet and legs may we suggest you become a monthly customer for the chiropodist? You will notice the pleasure of walking and dancing and keeping your feet healthy. Keep your feet built up at all times, run-over heels not only look horrible but are injurious to your health.

And one more bit of advice—knees are no new subject to men or women, so cover them up. It is only one girl in million who can truly say, "I know I have good-looking knees!"

How Does It Stay There?

How the strapless corsage of this gown remained in position was no mystery to the folk who saw it at Derek Sheffington's autumn dress show in London. They knew that concealed stiffening did the trick. But what did intrigue them was "How does that flower on her shoulder stay put?" The answer is... adhesive tape.

Round The Shops

Fifty-two days! Then you will find yourselves wishing everyone a "Very Merry Christmas!" But, in the meantime, there are parties and more parties with plenty of birthdays and anniversaries thrown in. All this means that each of you have plenty of shopping to do. Have courage, the stores are just waiting to serve you!

Evening Finery

No decision on the new evening dress for the special ball or dinner engagement? Step into Lane Crawford's Gown Salon. Satin, chiffon, taffeta, crepes, velvet, the new matelassé are styled into very chic evening gowns. Trims in flowers, rhinestones, sequins, span-gles, beading, make the striking note and contrast in these creations.

While you are investigating the ready-to-wear, spot the very new compacts, wood, leather, enamel, polished steel; in flat, small, round, square styles. Very attractive, different and lovely for gifts. The new evening and dress vanities are works of art.

They are divided into various separate compartments, cigarette, notes, powder, rouge, lipstick, comb and money sections. The shapes are quite new and the lovely work on the polished steel is amazing in its novelty and cleverness. They are a bit expensive but well worth the price.

Sporty Knits

A two-piece knit suit is the "love" of our lives in the chilly weather. The new ones at Mrs. Willy's in Metropole Hotel Building, are very high style in creation and colour. You would not recognize the knit jerseys of older days; their colours and styles keep along with the machine hand-made in appearance. Bolero jackets, or with buttons and slippers which have plain, pleated in front or flared skirts, have a third piece in a contrasting or blending sweater which makes a perfect looking suit and is serviceable.

New furs and evening gowns will be in shortly for this specialty shop.

The Unusual Accessories

The trifles which take our money, and which many times "just makes" the outfit and can be worn with several various costumes, are dear to all women's hearts.

Mayos has quite a large selection in the unusual and different gadgets. Vells, large and small, in colours for either your hat or evening headgear; feathers, flowers, hair clips which could be worn on hats, dresses or in the hair. The earrings, bracelets, clips, pins, rings, necklaces and other jewellery are displayed in small quantities, but each piece a costume addition.

The new cigarette cases of glass and gold are quite exotic and the little snuff boxes of the same compound and style make lovely gifts. The new buckles and hat pins are quaint and attractive and give the necessary zip to a dress or suit picture.

Costume of Evening

Parties, parties, parties and you know perfectly well one evening gown cannot take on the whole winter dress picture job. Sleek, sophistication in black or colours, full skirted bouffant, rustling robe, slinky satin or plain tailored gowns are on review in Excella's Dress Salon in Kowloon.

There are a few evening wraps of velvet lined in satin to keep you warm winter evenings. The sleeve and collar treatment vary. New shipments of plaids, checks, sport and afternoon attire are expected on the Empress of Japan for this shop.

AS MAN TO MAN, AND A COMPARISON

NOT VERY FREQUENTLY do we dig up the male species for inspection or comparison on this page. However, a short bit of argument made us ponder over a new sidelight on the art of grooming. And we let you be the judge.

The long standing tradition is to the effect that, like cats, women are the fastidious sex. Because of the inherent structure of the feminine mind, supposedly, they have a nicer taste in the amenities of civilized existence, and, because they have more time at their disposal for the purpose, the feminine person is more carefully gardened and garnished than that of the raffish and rufianly male.

Now, "Is dis a fact?"

Women, as a group, have more time to devote to perfecting their persons than men. This is probably true, but whether they put this asset to as profitable a use is open to question. Granted!

The hours spent by feminine supplicants with cosmeticians, hairdressers, manicurists, pedicures, reducing agents, masseuses, dress-makers, hat designers and other beauty technicians, must be far in excess of those invested by the less-leisured male in barber shops, gymnasiums, tailors and boot-makers, and yet the result is seldom apparent to the degree implied by the discrepancy in beauty minutes. In many cases here in Hongkong men are more chic than their wives or the ladies of their heart. True!

FOOTWEAR

What self-respecting man, for example, will appear under any circumstances at all without his footwear properly cleaned and polished, and yet many women, whose shoes for the most part neither require nor would permit of daily shining by reason of their material and finish, roam the streets and haunt hotels in soiled, dusty and even downright damaged shoes.

A man changes his collar at the very least once a day, along with most of his other linen, and twice if he's going out in the evening. Yet the supposedly fastidious female will wear a white collar on a tailored dress, even a suit blouse for a week before it occurs to consign it to the linen hamper.

A gentleman's hands are invariably as clean as soap and scrubbing brush can make them, most of the time, but either because such treatment is damaging to the lacquer on their nails or for some more occult reason, women of chic in other respects may not infrequently be discovered to have grubby fingers. Absolutely!

FIRST POINT

The first point in a man's normal daily routine is cropping his beard, and that he repeats again while dressing for dinner, but everyone is familiar with the woman who neglects regularly to shave her legs with the result that her stockings have a reforested look for all the world like Birnam Wood, coming to Dunsinane. Or, even worse, thinks no one will notice that so small underarm stubble when she's in evening or bathing clothes. Admitted!

The truth of the whole matter seems to be that, while nobody hesitates to call a man's attention to lapses of taste in his person or appearance, even women are reluctant to mention revolution. One of these days, some youth around Hongkong upon meeting his girl for lunch at a hotel or club will not salute her with "Dear, you look simply divine to-day." He will sternly admonish her. "You can go right home and wash your face, know that last fortnight, poney in the dustbin, get a fresh pair of gloves and scrub your nails. Then I'll buy you some gin and spinach and not before." It is possible!

INTRODUCTION TO ENJOYMENT

Fine dramatic situations and hilarious comedy moments march across the screen in "A Letter of Introduction," which is being shown at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds and George Murphy provide the drama. The comedy is excellently taken care of by that remarkable pair, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, whom you saw in "The Goldwyn Follies."

Andrea Leeds and Adolphe Menjou carry the story of an aging actor who discovers, through a letter of introduction, that he is the father of a grown daughter, the role played by Miss Leeds. The actor's ego, coupled with the fear of losing his screen-idol popularity, prompts him to conceal their true relationship from the world. Through this deception comes a succession of unusual events.

SIAMESE CATS' BLUE EYES

Hue Much Deeper In British Climate

British climatic conditions have produced a depth of pure blue in the eyes of Siamese cats never before equalled in the history of the breed.

This was the view recently of two judges at the 15th annual championship show of the Siamese Cat Club, held at the Drill Hall, Chenies-street, W.

Mme. d'Ollone, of New York, a member of the New Jersey Cat Club, who crossed the Atlantic specially to judge at the show, said: "The eye colour is superlative. This is the loveliest collection of cats I have ever seen." She has been a breeder for more than 30 years.

The other judge who noticed the deeper eye colour was Mrs. Barnes-Lawrence, who comes from Siam. She was chosen because of her birth nationality to award a new prize for the kitten with most charm, regardless of show points.

"The English climate has something to do with the deeper blue of the cats' eyes," she said. "When the cats come to Siam the eyes become paler."

There was 182 cats shown—a record—and the prizes were presented by Miss Elsie and Miss Doris Waters.

Lord Ashfield, Chairman of the London Passenger Transport Board, presenting bars to "Safety First" medals held by 100 bus-drivers with 15 years' freedom from accident said: "These drivers have covered 27,000,000 miles in London streets without a single person being injured—a magnificent achievement."

MAKING A 350 ACRE LAKE

Progress On Vast New Reservoir

London's vast new reservoir at Staines, Middlesex, which will hold 4,400,000 gallons and will cost £1,250,000, is beginning to take shape.

Last summer this site of almost 400 acres was farmland. To-day it is a vast, dusty plain, with the 50ft banks already rising. About 1,000 men, working night and day on 10-hour shifts, are labouring on the project, which the Metropolitan Water Board expects will be completed in about 30 months.

The total area of the new reservoir at top-water level will be 350 acres and the depth will be 50ft.

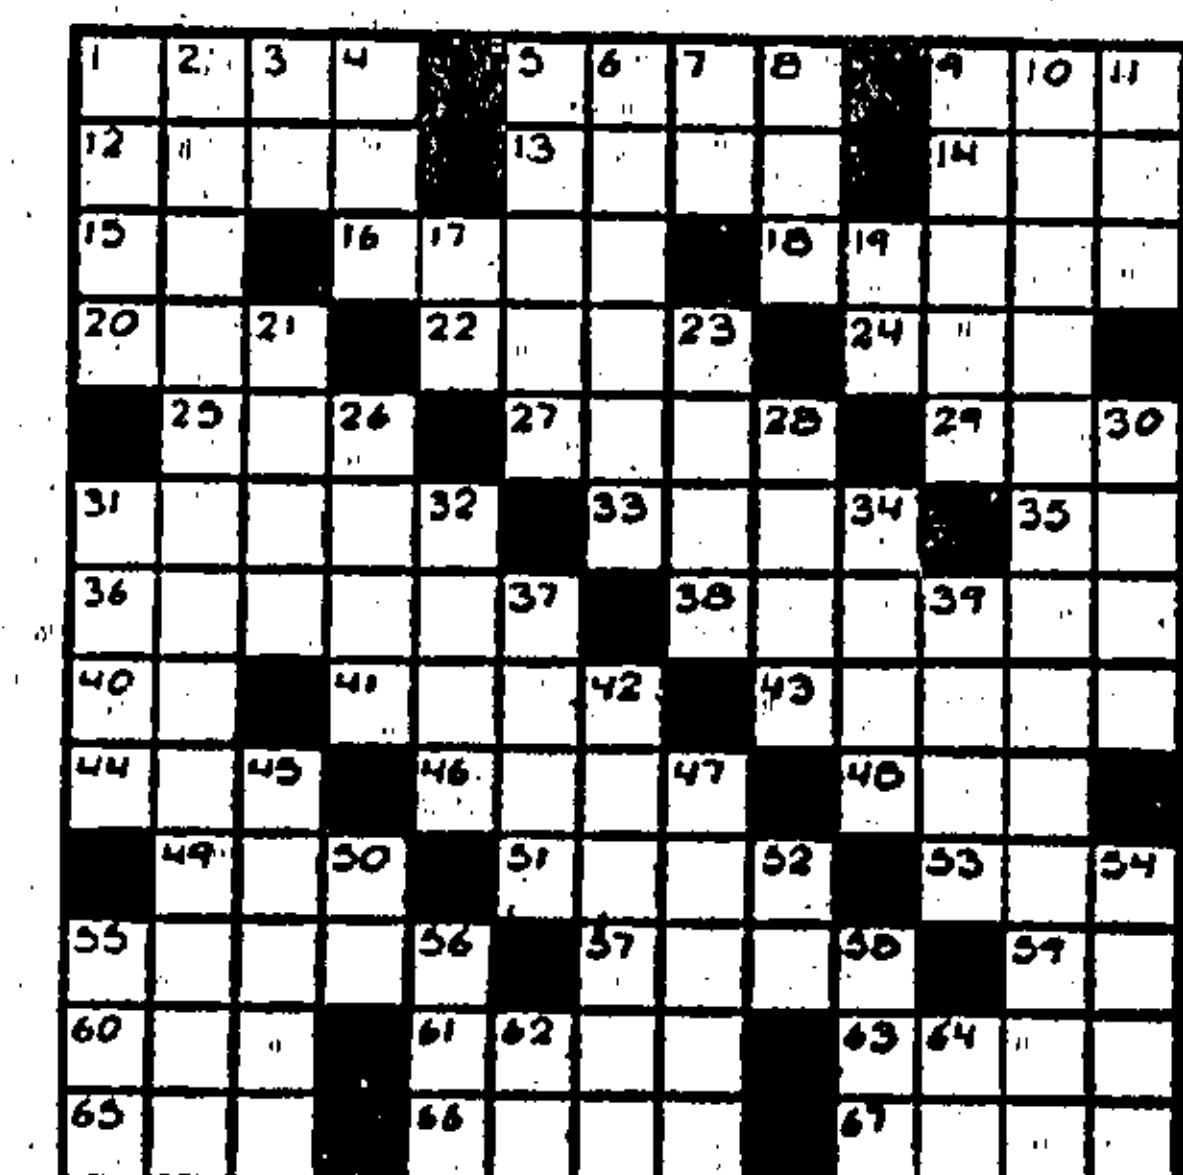

In the construction of the bank, which will be 3 1-3 miles around, 7,000,000 tons of soil will be used, while 680,000 tons of puddled clay will be used to form the water-retaining core wall of the embankment. The inside of the embankment will be lined with concrete slabs.

Water will be pumped into the reservoir from the Thames, and the system will be able to supply any part of London through pumping stations at Kempton Park and Hampton.

Mr. F. W. Ireland, the resident engineer, described the two new high-speed excavating machines which were brought from America for work on the scheme. "They plough the soil on to a moving belt," he explained. "From the moving belt the soil drops into wagons pulled by caterpillar tractors. There are two two-ton wagons to a unit and they are filled in 90 seconds. They in turn take the soil away and dump it on to the bank. By this system everything is on the move the whole time."

ANGLO-ITALIAN AGREEMENT TO BE BROUGHT INTO FORCE

PREMIER SAYS SPAIN NO LONGER A MENACE

London, November 3.

The Prime Minister, in moving in the House of Commons yesterday that "the House welcomes the intention of His Majesty's Government to bring the Anglo-Italian Agreement into force," recalled his observation on the joint declaration with Herr Hitler at Munich that, if it were suitably followed up, it might well be found to contain the seed of a new era of confidence and peace in Europe.

He said that since the date of the Anglo-Italian Agreement, there had been no differences between Italy and Britain, but it was clear that if the improvement in relations was to be maintained the delay in putting the Agreement into force could not be indefinitely prolonged.

The issue before the House, said Mr. Chamberlain, was not the Agreement itself, which had already been approved by a large majority, but whether the preliminary condition which he had laid down as essential before it could come into force had now been fulfilled.

The British plan for withdrawal of volunteers had been accepted by the Powers on the Non-Intervention Committee, and the Spanish Government had announced at Geneva its intention to withdraw the International Brigade. Moreover, at Munich, Signor Mussolini had volunteered information that he intended to withdraw 10,000 men, or about half the Italian infantry force, from Spain. These had now been withdrawn.

It was true that Italian pilots, aircraft and other material remained in Spain, said Mr. Chamberlain, but His Majesty's Government had received from Signor Mussolini assurances that, first, the remaining Italian forces of all categories would be withdrawn under the Non-Intervention Committee's plan when it came into operation, secondly, that no further Italian troops would be sent to Spain and, thirdly, that the Italian Government had never for a moment entertained the idea of sending a compensatory air force to Spain in place of infantry forces withdrawn.

SUBSTANTIAL EARNEST

"These three assurances, in conjunction with the actual withdrawal, in my judgment constitutes substantial earnest of the good intentions of the Italian Government and form a considerable contribution to the elimination of the Spanish question as a menace to peace," said the Premier.

"When I was at Munich, I spoke on the future of Spain with both Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini," continued Mr. Chamberlain, "and both of them assured me most definitely that they had no territorial ambitions whatever in Spain. In my mind it is perfectly clear that the Spanish question is no longer a menace to the peace of Europe and, consequently, there is no valid reason why we should not now take a step which obviously would contribute to general appeasement."

The Premier said that if any justification were required for the policy of agreement with Italy, it could be found in the action of Signor Mussolini when, at his (the Premier's) request, the Duce used his influence with Herr Hitler before Munich. By that act, the peace of Europe was saved, and it could not be supposed that Signor Mussolini would have responded if British relations with Italy had remained what they were 18 months ago.

ETHIOPIA RECOGNITION

Regarding recognition of Italian sovereignty in Ethiopia the Premier stated that new credentials would be issued to Lord Perth, British Ambassador, on similar lines to those which the French Government intended to give the new French Ambassador in Rome. —British Wireless.

HUNGARY GIVEN SLICE OF CZECH TERRITORY

Results Of Italo-German Mediation

Vienna, Nov. 3.

The Italo-German award, signed at 7.30 p.m., grants Hungary all Czechoslovak territory populated by an indisputable Hungarian majority, and thus about 1,000,000 Hungarians and considerable territory will pass to Hungarian sovereignty.

Of the five cities regarding which the controversy between Hungary and Czechoslovakia arose, Hungary gets the Ruthenian capital of Uzhgorod, and Ruthenia's second largest town of Mukachevo, as well as the big Slovak industrial town of Kosice, while Bratislava and Mita remain in the hands of the Slovaks.

As a result of the award, communications between Slovakia and Ruthenia are almost completely cut.

The decision is regarded as a diplomatic success for Hungary and Italy, and a severe blow to the Slovaks.

After the meeting Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, was all smiles, while Herr von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, was distinctly cool when he bade farewell to the Hungarian Foreign Minister, Dr. Kanya.

How An Ambassador's Wife Makes His Speech

Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy, U.S. Ambassador in London, proposing the toast of "The Royal and Merchant Navies" at the annual Trafalgar Day dinner of the Navy League, at the Dorchester Hotel, devoted much of his speech to telling how his wife had helped compose it.

"I did not want to talk about the Navy," said Mr. Kennedy. "He had thought about armaments—praising the peace-loving countries who had decided to build them up."

"But my wife said: 'It's a good subject, and one that ought to be discussed, but at a Navy League dinner don't you think you had better try something else?'"

Mr. Kennedy had another idea. He thought of saying a few words about Mr. Chamberlain, of whom he saw much during the crisis.

"In fact, he did say to his audience: 'History will show whether or not he made the right decision—but I must say that his all but superhuman efforts on behalf of peace should command the respect of all.' But then—"

"You are absolutely right," said my wife and critic, "but... have you thought how this would sound back home? You know, dear, our Ambassadors are supposed to lose all powers of resistance when they get to London. You don't want folks to get the idea that you are seeing things through English eyes."

"For a while I was tempted to fall back on my nine children. They are always good for five minutes. I could also enlarge on the hole-in-one which I had the good fortune to make at Stoke Poges."

"You have talked about the children too much," said their mother. "They are fine children and all that, but you cannot expect every one else to be as interested in them as you are."

"That was the last straw! I am sorry, ladies and gentlemen, but it appears that I shall have to fall back on the Navy after all."

Mr. Kennedy then said: "Great Britain and the United States, after more than a century of rivalry, seem to have reached an understanding. Neither Navy has assumed any obligation to assist the other in time of trouble."

"This is, I believe, a relationship unique in the annals of naval history. It is probably the first time two nations not bound by an alliance have actually welcomed every ship launched by the other. So far as Great Britain and the United States are concerned, the Navy is an incentive not to discord but to peace."

Plan Quicker Divorces

With over 2,000 divorce suits still awaiting trial as the Divorce Division opened its autumn term in England a fortnight ago, President Sir Boyd Merriman revealed a new scheme to put an end to the courts' chronic congestion. From London's High Courts more cases will be switched to local assizes.

Petitions heard in the Central Divorce Division take almost a year. Its courts must handle all cases except those of "poor persons" in undefended suits.

A "poor person" is one with a capital of not less than £50 and income under £4 a week. His advantage is that his petition can be heard in local courts, and disposed of much quicker than those of his richer fellow citizens. Sir Boyd Merriman's scheme provides a more liberal interpretation of what constitutes a "poor person."

The reform was hailed as "divorce by post"—the postman will bring to unhappy spouses the news that their petitions can be heard at their own sessions.

AMATEUR PLAYERS ATTEND Y'S MEN'S CLUB Tiffin

"Ladies' Day" at the Hongkong Y's Men's Club tiffin, held at St. Francis Hotel yesterday, was a big success, which was largely contributed to by the presence of the cast of "Romance of the Western Chamber," brilliant Chinese play which has just concluded its run at the Queen's Theatre.

The speaker at the tiffin was Mr. E. H. Munson, member of the Y's Men's Club of Foochow.

Mr. Peter H. Sin presided and guests introduced were Mrs. Li Shu-pui (producer of "Romance of the Western Chamber"), Mr. O. Round About

A great question—are the tailors of to-day as thorough as those in days gone by?

A dainty young miss in her teens stepped off a rickshaw at the ferry, entered the waiting enclosure and seated herself.

A perky, white ribbon hat she wore on her blond curly locks, white kid sandals and sun-tan hose on her feet and legs. And her severely-tailored sport dress of white sharkskin was complemented by a white and blue belt with matching bag.

The ferry arrives. The young miss selects her place on the boat. While crossing the harbour she pays attention to the busy bay scene, yet always conscious of her appearance which she attempts now and then to keep spotless and uncrumpled.

Upon arriving on the other side and disembarking, the young lady notices in a glass a thread which hangs from the centre back hem of her skirt. With little ado, she bends and pulls the thread, intending to detach it from the skirt.

But voila! In pulling the thread several score inches detach themselves from the dress material. In very short order she finds the centre back seam in her dress has become completely unravelled.

No doubt she gave silent thanks for her slip and boarded the returning ferry. Such tailoring

IRVING BERLIN IN LONDON

Irving Berlin, the man who wrote "Alexander's Ragtime Band" 23 years ago and changed the popular music of the world, is in London.

He is there to attend the premiere of the Twentieth Century-Fox film, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," at the Regal, Marble Arch.

The film is a drama of 30 years of a composer's life, studied with Mr. Berlin's most famous hits. It has been accepted as autobiographical. "Actually," he said, "it is fiction, but if everybody will insist it's true."

While in London Mr. Berlin will take part in two broadcasts, by Louis Levy, of his most famous number, which is still his best seller in America.

Mr. Berlin began his career as Izzy Baline, the singing waiter. He never learned to read music, and is reputed to have made $1,000,000. He composes his tunes off the piano with all ten fingers, not one on each hand, as people always say—and somebody else writes them down and orchestrates them.

"ENGLISH SOFT SOAP"

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, the American newspaper magnate, has again broken into the news. In a broadcast from his ranch at San Simeon, California, he replied vigorously to the recent broadcast of Mr. Winston Churchill to the people of the United States in which the latter invited America to join France and Great Britain in a concerted drive against dictatorships.

In the blistering manner for which he is noted, Hearst, who, through the chain of American newspapers which he controls, is the leader of what is known as "yellow journalism" as opposed to red, "shot his neck out" in a violent attack on Great Britain.

For his anti-British utterances and activities, Hearst is too well-known to cause England's statesmen to wrinkle their brows and there will be a general inclination to treat him as one whose bark is worse than his bite.

"England is now afraid that the domination which she and France have exercised over Europe since the execution of the Versailles Treaty will be jeopardized," Hearst said. "England is also disturbed about her great interest in the Orient. Singapore is not safe. Japan is menacing Hongkong. England's Navy cannot be in several places at once; England's Army cannot be both at home and abroad. England wants other navies and other armies."

England needs help. And where should she turn for help except to good old Uncle Sam, so sought after when he is needed, so scoffed at and scorned in all intervening times. English propaganda is again flooding the United States; English soft soap is again being poured over Uncle Sam's devoted head, lathered into his ears and eyes.

BRITONS ARE BY NO MEANS DISCONCERTED with this malicious broadcast, coming as it does from one whose friendship with England has never been close. The statements which we have quoted are too mischievous and ridiculous to call for much comment but Hearst may rest assured that England is not afraid that her interests will be jeopardized: on the contrary, she is now less disturbed than she has been for many a day.

Words to the effect that England needs help and is pouring soft

AMERICAN SHOT THROUGH HEAD

Affair Discovered By Neighbour

Discovered in his room shot through the head, M. Davey, an American citizen living at No. 397, Rue Tenant de la Tour, Shanghai, was taken to hospital by French police but was found to be dead upon arrival.

The shooting was discovered after a neighbour of Mr. Davey had informed the police that a shot had been fired in his apartment. Entering the room, the police found Mr. Davey lying with a wound through the head, one bullet being extracted later at the hospital.

Mr. Davey, who leaves a widow, was aged about 58 years, and had been employed by the Standard Oil Co., and later the Yee Tsong Tobacco Co. which firm he left in March this year for reasons of health. At the time of his death he was not employed.

ARABS FIRE ON TRUCKS

Jerusalem, Nov. 3. Motor trucks, transporting Jews from Haifa to Jenin, were fired at yesterday by Arabs. British troops were rushed up and six Arabs were killed.

Between Jerusalem and Ramallah, British planes participated in a fight between British soldiers and Arabs. The number of dead and wounded has not yet been revealed.

Among those arrested by the British authorities at Jaffa 50 were identified as members of the Arab Volunteer Corps.—Transocean.

CHINESE AUTHOR MISSING

Chinese literary circles are concerned over the fate of Mr. Pa Chin, the well-known novelist, who was known to be in Canton during the time of the Japanese invasion.

Mr. Pa's friends have not heard from him for a long time and inquiries from likely sources have not brought any information as to his possible whereabouts.

FOOCHOW RUMOUR DENIED

Shanghai, Nov. 3. The Commander of the Japanese China Fleet yesterday denied that a large number of troops were being landed on the coast of Fukien, and stated that, contrary to newspaper reports, no extensive military operations were taking place in the vicinity of Fuchow.

The Commander also denied knowledge of any smaller military operations.—Transocean.

soap over Uncle Sam's devoted head are ludicrous. What Britain seeks with America "SOFT" is her friendship and co-operation rather than a ROT military alliance and Hearst, who professes to be the "top-notch" in the American journalistic world, should be aware of this.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEKS PEACE through friendly means but, when the lion's tail is tugged too often, she is likely to do something more than roar. Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the British Prime Minister, has shown the world, as Hearst's countrymen put it, that Britain is sincere in her desire for peace among nations and is prepared to go far and make considerable sacrifices in order to achieve her end.

Had it not been for Great Britain's fine initiative, the world would to-day have been in the throes of a war worse than anything that has been witnessed. Mr. Chamberlain's latest step in bringing the Anglo-Italian agreement into force, thereby making another important step towards a general appeasement of the situation in Europe, is ample proof of Britain's intentions. It is farcical that Hearst should believe that the British people are not prepared to subordinate their nationalism for common good: Britain has been ready to do this for a long time, as proof of which she has made very far-reaching concessions in a sincere desire to improve the general atmosphere.

If other nations are prepared to make similar sacrifices, the world will be the better off but, so long as suspicious remain and so long as mischievous people of the Hearst type roam about the world, cannot expect to enjoy real and lasting peace.

CORRESPONDENCE

WANG CHING-WEI'S STATEMENTS

[To the Editor, "The Hongkong Daily Press"]

Sir,—I do not wish to enter into a useless controversy on what constitutes treason or patriotism, nor do I wish to enter into a discussion of political personalities with Mr. Percy Chen, but I do wish to state the following facts in connection with his article in your paper on November 1 last:

1. Mr. Wang Ching-wei retired to Germany not to spend "many" hours in conference with leading members of the "Nazis" but to receive treatment for his heart trouble at Bad Nauheim. While in Germany, he had never had a single interview or talk with Herr Hitler, nor has he even been in Berlin. These facts Mr. Chen may verify by inquiring from the Chinese Embassy in Berlin or any other person informed of Mr. Wang's movements.

2. The statement which Mr. Wang made to Reuters on October 21—the day before the fall of Canton—was given in identical form to Transocean on October 13.

3. What Mr. Wang said on those two occasions was similar in contents, if different in form, with what Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek declared on at least two previous occasions, as may be seen from the following quotations:

(a) "Although the population is suffering greatly, China's determination is unrelenting and stiffening. Being forced to resort to arms, China does not close the door to mediation by any third party but the success of such a mediation will depend largely on the Japanese peace proposals. If the terms are not such as to jeopardize China's existence and independence, they will be considered an acceptable basis of discussion but otherwise there is no chance for negotiations."—Mr. Wang Ching-wei on October 13 to Transocean.

(b) "If Japan offers peace terms which are not such as to hamper the existence of the Chinese nation, we may accept them as a basis for discussion, but otherwise there is no room for mediation."—Mr. Wang Ching-wei on October 21 to Reuters.

(c) "China will not welcome intervention by Great Britain or any other foreign Power with a view to arranging an armistice or peace, unless such intervention would restore China's sovereignty. China will accept no peace treaty, China will accept no peace but an honourable one. In every respect her full sovereignty must be restored."—General Chiang Kai-shek on June 30 in a press interview.

(d) "We are determined to force our enemy to abandon his aggression and alter his traditional conception of our country. Our final aim is the re-establishment of peace in East Asia."—General Chiang Kai-shek on July 7 in a message to the Chinese nation.

(e) "If the people of Japan would coerce their warriors to change their policy, thereby restoring peace and Sino-Japanese friendship and laying a foundation for permanent peace in East Asia, they would be not only saving their country and themselves but also their sons and brothers. All within the four seas are brother. Because of racial and cultural factors, China's relations with Japan have been particularly close. Unfortunately, the Japanese military have been returning evil for good. Exercising the utmost patience, China has been hoping that the Japanese military would one day awaken to their follies and turn around to work jointly for peace in East Asia."—General Chiang Kai-shek

Successful Play Concludes

Concluding the same brilliant success as it had begun, "Romance of the Western Chamber," Chinese play rendered in English under the auspices of the Hongkong Chinese Women's Club ended its run at the Queen's Theatre last night, when the curtain rang down on one of the best amateur shows ever produced locally.

There was again a fair attendance, those present including the Hon. Dr. and Mrs. Li Shu-tan, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Perdue, Dr. and Mrs. Li Shu-pui, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. MacKie, Mr. and Mrs. Wase, Dr. and Mrs. Y. T. Law, Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, Mr. and Mrs. Che Hon-to, Mr. Li Lan-san, Mr. and Mrs. Li Chak-cho, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Kong, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Loo, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chan, Miss Doreen Ma, Miss Daisy O'Keefe, Miss Bella Pestonji and Dr. and Mrs. K. K. Woo.

If anyone cares to interpret the above messages as expressions of desire for peace at any price, he is at liberty to do so, but he is not re-stating, or fairly interpreting, the facts.

MOVE TO RELIEVE DISTRESS

[To the Editor, "The Hongkong Daily Press"]

Sir,—I read with much interest your leader this morning on the subject of the move made by citizens of Hongkong under the sympathetic patronage of His Excellency the Governor to relieve distress among Chinese victims of Japanese aggression.

Your suggestion that non-Hongkong Chinese should be invited to join in the appeal deserves some consideration. Perhaps the nature and object of the new organisation make this unsuitable or undesirable. If this is a Hongkong and South China Branch, then citizens of South China may, perhaps, be invited to become signatories of the appeal. On the other hand, if this is the Hongkong Branch or the British Branch, as it is officially called, then it is natural to see only citizens of Hongkong signing the appeal.

But what I am anxious to know is this:—Is the new organisation another worthy relief association or does it aim at being the official (and possibly the only lawful) agency for the collection and distribution of relief funds? Perhaps the sponsors of this very worthy object will throw more light on this and other aspects of the new organisation. This will enable the public to subscribe more readily.

THE WHITE FEATHER AND LOLLIPOPS!

[To the Editor, "The Hongkong Daily Press"]

Sir,—In your issue of Sunday appeared a letter over the name of "One Who Has Served." The writer suggested awarding the white feather to all young Chinese gentlemen, fit to serve the country but too lazy or timid to do so.

I have found three gallant youths who have every right to the distinction. These three stalwarts, apparently refugees from the war zones, took things easily outside the Hongkong Hotel yesterday, each one sucking a lollipop! From their countenances, there was not a thought of the war in their minds.

NON-CHINESE SYMPATHETIC.

PROSPECTS FOR TENTH EXTRA RACE MEETING

Queensland Handicap
Tit-Bit Of Programme

FREEMANTLE ST. LEGER

(By "LAST QUARTER")

THE CHIEF EVENTS IN THE PROGRAMME to be presented to-morrow at the 10th Extra Race Meeting of the Hongkong Jockey Club are the Sub-Griffins St. Leger and the Freemantle St. Leger, over 1-1/4 miles. Entries on the whole have not been as large as at former meetings, with the possible exception of the Norfolk Handicap for "D" Class China ponies, but this should in no way affect the keen racing anticipated.

Judging by the allotment of weights, the most interesting race of the day will be the Queensland Handicap for "A" Class Australian ponies over one mile, when a field of "champions" will be on view and should furnish punters with a capital finish.

SALVAGE MASTER, WELL FANCIED FAVOURITE for the Sub-Griffins St. Leger has his task made all the easier owing to the enforced absence of Louis XIV and Smiling Thru. The former has been on the walking list for several months, since winning the Sub-Griffins Spring Handicap in March last, while Smiling Thru pulled up lame several weeks ago after a morning gallop and has not fully recovered. Another notable absentee is Desert Star. The entries for the Freemantle St. Leger are fairly representative and I believe all the nine ponies will go to the post.

SURREY HANDICAP

A noticeable feature of all races confined to "A" Class China ponies is the meagre support accorded them in the way of entries and this opening event on the programme is no exception. Based on all the four entrants accepting, the issue should lie between Silky and Confusion Bay. The brown stallion from the Cire stable has been given a great deal of fast work lately and has responded well, so that he should strip in first class condition for the race and be a difficult one to beat.

The main opposition will be furnished by Confusion Bay, whose performance in winning the Hongkong Griffins Cup over 1 1/2 miles at the last race meeting in 2:26-2/5, and carrying 168 lbs. stamps the Dunbar candidate as a coming champion. With only 152 lbs. to look after and receiving 18 lbs. from Silky, the chances of Confusion Bay are greatly enhanced and I expect this bay to fully extend Silky.

King's Warden should account for third place, as this grey is galloping well and seems to be in better condition than Cameronian, whose work out last Saturday was not at all impressive and appears still a little backward in form.

NORFOLK HANDICAP
(FIRST SECTION)

With a series of the entrants being reserved for the Sub. St. Leger, I think Coronation Day should be about the best one to follow in this race, which is from the 2 Mile Post. This chestnut has been coming on quite a bit recently and the weight, 142 lbs., is very much in her favour.

Valorous has been close on several occasions and will have to be reckoned with. This grey finished very well at the last meeting after having a none too clear run all the way round. Plain View did a nice gallop on Wednesday morning and seems to have recovered a little lost form. Estover is another possible starter that should not be neglected.

If Golden Cow is started here instead of in the St. Leger, this chestnut may be worth a small investment each way. For punters looking for a "long shot" I recommend Wadebridge, as this ex-champion sub is improving with every gallop and may be the one to create an upset.

SUB-GRIFFINS ST. LEGER

Salvage Master should have no difficulty in accounting for the other contenders in this 1 1/4 mile race, for as far as I can see, this pony appears to have improved further in condition since last year. Dekko is expected to run close, but good as this chestnut is, I fear he will have to be content with one of the minor positions.

The remaining place should be fought out between Golden Cow and Fel Ying, with the chances slightly in favour of the former. Final Triumph seems to be short of work, while Piet Hein will probably find the distance beyond his powers of endurance.

QUEENSLAND HANDICAP

The pit-bit of the meeting, from a racing viewpoint, will undoubtedly be this mile contest for "A" Class Australian ponies. One can hardly eliminate any of the entrants as being out of the running and there should be some very even betting on the pari-mutuel. My fancy at the moment is Courting Eve, as the distance should suit this bay more admirably. Strathroy (Colson) should benefit by the 5 lbs. allowance but this brown may not strip in top condition and therefore cannot be too strongly recommended.

Electron has a good chance while Centre Court should still be able to make a strong bid for the honours. Lancashire Chips does not look at her best but may still be capable of running into a place. Double Finesse has been doing some extraordinary fast gallops during the past month and may just last out the mile. A Grand Time also came into prominence with an impressive try-out last Wednesday morning.

Punters will have a difficult proposition in picking the winner in this event but the returns should be fairly good irrespective of whichever pony wins. It has been quite a time since we have had all the top notchers out against each other, so I anticipate a tense fight and a very close finish.

NORFOLK HANDICAP
(SECOND SECTION)

There is really nothing outstanding in this event and from past performances Tempest, Diogenes and Good Morning are the most likely ones to be in front at the end of the race. Personally, I believe it will result in a struggle between the former two as Good Morning may find the distance too long. Gold Sovereign is also in fairly good condition and may beat the favourites. Racing Boy is a probable starter, after a long absence but his form is not very encouraging, despite a fairly good gallop last Saturday. Emergency Call (158 lbs.) has been whistled as a likely winner but I think the weight will prove to be too much. Double Chance has not been too well served in the jockey department lately, but if an experienced and capable rider is given the mount, this dun will be the best outsider to follow.

FREEMANTLE ST. LEGER

King's Privilege has undergone extensive and special training for this classic and this bay mare will be prominent. She has done several exceptionally fast mile gallops recently and is looking in fine fettle. Tornado Star is the real danger as this chestnut has proved to be a stayer and ran a good fourth with 165 lbs. at the last meeting.

Lucky Lad is the other fancied pony and has a fair chance. Of the others, Annabella is about the best, as this candidate was second in the Rooter Hill Derby at the Annual Race Meeting.

However, she gave a wretched display two weeks ago and was nowhere in the picture. Murray River is strongly fancied in some quarters but I am afraid the distance will beat her.

PADDOCK HANDICAP

Those fortunate enough to back the winner in the first leg of the Daily Double will find it a difficult task to correctly pick the final leg, as this half mile sprint for Novice Jockeys is a very open affair.

On training performances and in view of having the services of one of the best novices, Tabby Cat (K. L. P.) should annex this event. This dun was prominent last Saturday morning when the mile try-out was covered in a fraction inside 2:12. Atomic Star is also in excellent condition and will do well if taken out by one of the better novice riders.

Flybynight still seems on the heavy side but this brown is quite deceiving at times and may give a much better display to-morrow.

Easy Time, Wenning, Cape Comorin and Dark Hazard are fair performers, with outside chances. Yum Sing may be close up if fit.

WORLD AFFAIRS

POLAND SETS OUT TO TEACH A LESSONAnd Britain Would Do Well
To Follow Suit

SOME PEOPLE IN OUR COUNTRY seem to think that we would do well to learn the lesson which Poland has done her best to teach us," said Mr. H. Wickham Steed in the course of his talk in the World Affairs series, broadcast from Daventry last night. Mr. Wickham Steed was speaking on the situation in Central Europe.

The speaker began by saying that there were times when it was easier to be silent on world affairs than to speak about them, not for the lack of anything to say but because there was so much to talk about. This applied to the situation in Central Europe.

MR. WICKHAM STEED said that while some reports have it that the German occupation of parts of Czechoslovakia far exceeded expectations, others had it that it was less extensive than was at first thought. In this connection he mentioned that the Lord Mayor's Fund, opened in London, could help greatly to relieve the situation and this alone testified to the sympathy held in Great Britain for the Czechoslovaks affected by the occupation.

RAILWAYS CUT
The speaker went on to say that one of the most serious aspects of the case was that the areas occupied by Germany cut through all the important railways and trunk roads, thus necessitating the construction of new railways and trunk roads. The British loan of £10,000,000 could help greatly in this direction.

One cheerful aspect, however, was that the Czechoslovaks were not doomed by the occupation and they had enough with which to carry on. Here the Governments who would have been affected by the complete breakdown of the Czechoslovaks, had that come about, should help them in every way possible.

ITALIAN VIEW
Mr. Wickham Steed then went on to say that Italy, who favoured a Hungarian demands, might favour a Hungarian-Polish pact but Germany would not look upon such with favour, for despite the but I have not seen this grey for several weeks and presume he does his work very early in the mornings.

SUSSEX HANDICAP
Wild Life (168 lbs.) has been allotted top weight but will be near winning if started. However, I am told this grey is being kept over for the St. Andrew's Stakes, in which case I expect King's Coronation to carry off the honours.

Elizabeth is a handy flyer over six furlongs and will be hard to catch, while both Potentate and Rob Roy (whichever Mr. Encarnacion picks) are quite capable of doing the trick. Cosack's Beauty, Soldier of Britain, Dawn Star, Commencement Bay and Expansion Time are other probable starters. The first two named are recommended to those looking for better money.

Final selections for the meeting will appear in to-morrow morning's issue of the "Hongkong Daily Press."

Mrs. Charlotte Haldane

Kunming, November 3.
"I HAVE TREMENDOUS FAITH IN THE FUTURE OF CHINA," declared Mrs. Charlotte Haldane, wife of Professor J. B. S. Haldane, and special correspondent of the "Daily Herald" in an interview with Reuter to-day before leaving Kunming on her return journey to England.

During the past two months she has been touring "free China" visiting women's associations.

"If China can hold out for another two months I believe the tide will turn in her favour," declared Mrs. Haldane, who praised Madame Chiang Kai-shek's work particularly the training of women for patriotic service.

Mrs. Haldane also spoke enthusiastically of Dr. Robert Lin, Director of the Chinese Red Cross. "China's youth need training," said Mrs. Haldane. "May I put it this way. Too many people are willing to see for China, too few know how to live for China. China's students and young people need training. They need to know how to use their hands."—Reuter.

National Register
Adopted

London, Nov. 3.
The Government has decided to adopt a National Register for voluntary civilian services for home defence.

Sir John Anderson, Lord Privy Seal, will most likely be responsible for deciding the best way to carry out this decision.

Special recruiting officers may be established, or volunteers may register as Town Halls and Council Offices throughout the country.—Reuter.

PRIZES FOR SOVIET AIRWOMEN

Moscow, Nov. 3.
Three airwomen have received the title of "Hero of the Soviet Union" and a cash prize of £11,000 each.

It will be recalled that a plane, believed to be that of the three Soviet airwomen who disappeared on a non-stop flight from Moscow to the Far East, was located on October 2 about 15 miles from Lake Amutskit, about 100 miles north of Komsomolsk.—Reuter and Special.

The Lord Mayor's fund for the Czechoslovak refugees amounts to £273,000, says British Wireless.

Rome-Berlin axis it might be to her advantage if Italy had another axis available, such as a Budapest and Warsaw.

The speaker said that the Polish Government had given the world an object lesson during the past few days. The Polish authorities had made it known that such Polish citizens who were abroad would not be recognised as such unless their passports were found to be in order and approved by the Polish Consulates concerned. For fear that some 20,000 Polish-Jews now in Germany would be "dumped" in the country, the German authorities seized them, put them in cattle trucks and shipped them to the Polish frontier.

The Polish Government lost no time in meeting out similar treatment to the Germans in Poland and it was in this connection that Britain, in the opinion of many, would do well to learn the lesson Poland has set out to teach the world.

the crew of the Cantabria are prisoners on board the Nadir.

Captain Arguilles, of the Cantabria, his wife, two children and a steward were rescued by a lifeboat from the Cromer. Eleven members of the crew reached the coast by swimming.

The Captain of the Cantabria broadcast an account of the bombardment last night over the British station stating that his ship had left London on Tuesday evening bound for Leningrad.

"Ever since leaving British waters yesterday forenoon," the Captain said "we were followed by an auxiliary cruiser flying the National flag. This cruiser, it was ascertained later, was the Nadir."

CALENDAR TO BE REVISED
Shanghai, Nov. 3.

The Peiping provisional government and the Nanking reformed government plan to revise their calendar, according to a Japanese report from Nanking. The new calendar, officials state, will designate seven official holidays, including the Double Tenth.—Reuter.

General Wu Te-chen On Future Resistance
Lienhsien, Kwangtung, November 3.

SPEAKING AT THE FIRST weekly memorial meeting of the Kwangtung Provincial Government since its removal here, General Wu Te-chen, Chairman of the Province, exhorted his subordinates to spare no efforts in the development of Kwangtung's rural areas in order to help push the resistance plan. He pointed out that China's main source of power in her future resistance is in the rural districts.

Reminding them of their responsibility of national reconstruction, he asked the youths of China not to shrink from their duties.—Central News.

AMERICAN CHINESE
HELP MOTHERLANDUNOFFICIAL PARTICIPATION IN SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

Huge Donations Revealed

More than $25,000,000 (Chinese Currency) has been contributed by overseas Chinese in North and South America for refugee relief, medical aid and other patriotic purposes since the commencement of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, according to Mr. Fong Gam-toon, prominent Chinese newspaper proprietor of San Francisco, who arrived here by the Philippine Clipper on Wednesday.

In the United States alone, Mr. Fong says, at least $17,000,000 has been contributed by the Chinese there.

Practically every one of the 80,000 Chinese residents in the United States gave his or her share towards helping China in the present struggle, according to Mr. Fong. They engaged in propaganda work, launched fund-raising campaigns and purchased medicines. The Chinese in San Francisco held a gigantic "China Town Night" during the summer, in which more than 300,000 Chinese and Americans participated, and collected a huge sum of money.

Referring to the San Francisco Exposition to be opened on February 18 next, for which he is here to collect exhibits and look for a Chinese beauty as hostess, Mr. Fong says that the Chinese in America decided to participate in it unofficially since China has declined to take part owing to the present hostilities.

A "China Village" occupying an area of 90,000 square feet in the Exposition grounds will be built. There will be, among other things, a Chinese theatre, a Chinese restaurant, a native goods show, and a seven-storey pagoda. The whole village, patterned after old Chinese architectural designs, will entail a total cost of $200,000.

After an absence of more than 20 years, Mr. Fong has returned to China for the first time. Owing to the hostilities, he will not proceed to the interior but will stay in Hongkong. He is expected to stay here for two months before returning to America, says Central News.

ARMY BOXING

ROYAL SCOTS BEAT THE LANCASHIRE FUSILIERSNovices Tournament Conclude
At Murray Barracks

Both the Royal Scots and the Lancashire Fusiliers were well represented in the large audience that applauded six fights in the Royal Scots' Inter-Company Novices Boxing Championships and three special contests between Scots' and Fusiliers' boxers at the Murray Barracks last night.

The prizes were presented to the winners and runners-up by Major MacDougall, M.C., Officer Commanding the Battalion, who announced that a special prize was being presented to the winner of the bantam-weight title, a belt won by L/Sgt. Evans, now Q.M.S. Evans, when he became the feather-weight champion of Scotland.

The three representatives of the Lancs. Fusiliers put up good fights, although they won only one of them, but the Scots' title bouts produced the best battles. No quarter was given or accepted in six encounters where hard-hitting was the order of the day.

The results:—
Bantam: Pte. Hall "C" beat Pte. Cochrane "C".
Catch: Pte. Hart "D" beat Lieut. Patterson "C".
Feather: L/Cpl. Octon "H.Q." ko. Pte. Rompen "C".
Light: Pte. Scott "C" t.k.o. Pte. Bankier "D".
Middle: Pte. Moore "C" beat Pte. Wallace "C".

The prize for the best fight put up by a loser was awarded to Pte. Wallace.

ENGLAND BEATS SCOTLAND

London, Nov. 3. At Wolverhampton, yesterday, the English Soccer League deservedly beat the Scottish League by three goals to one.

The English defence had the measure of the Scottish forwards and always looked more dangerous. Boyes scored twice for the English League, the first goal coming after a quarter of an hour and at half-time the Englishmen led 2-0. Dix, who was the best man on the field, scored the third goal for England soon after the interval. Walker got the Scots' goal from a penalty before the end.

A crowd of 35,000 spectators watched the game in sunny weather.—Reuter.

SHANGHAI LAWN BOWLERS HOME

An Appreciation Of Hosts

The victorious Shanghai Lawn Bowls Interport side returned to Shanghai in the Wingsang, coming up to the Customs Jetty by launch with the Shanghai and Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association flags hoisted and the Prentice Cup still in their possession.

An informal gathering was held at the Lawn Bowls Club when Mr. W. J. Monk, the Association President, took the opportunity of congratulating the captain and his men upon their success.

Mr. Hugh Wallace, in a brief reply stated that he credited their victory to the team spirit which had prevailed throughout rather than to individual play.

All members of the team commented upon the marvellous hospitality and the arrangements which had been made and carried through so smoothly.

SENIOR LEAGUE PROSPECTS

INTERESTING MATCHES FOR WEEK-END

Progress Of Kwong Wah Will Be Watched

ROYAL SCOTS SHOULD WIN: KOWLOON TO MEET POLICE

(BY C.I.R.E.)

THE SURPRISE RESULTS of last week-end's Senior League football matches has left me in a quandary as to how to give a forecast for to-morrow and Sunday. Last Saturday there were four upsets, not the least among them being the defeat of St. Joseph's at the hands of the Police who fielded a mixed European and Chinese team for the first time; while on Sunday Kwong Wah delighted their supporters with an odd-goal win over Eastern, a truly fine effort.

THE PROGRESS OF THE Kwong Wah team, newcomers to the Senior division, is being watched with great interest. Prior to their match against Eastern, Kwong Wah's record was as follows:—v. Navy 1-1; v. South China "B" 0-2; v. Royal Scots 5-5; v. Kowloon 0-6; v. Middlesex 0-2. With their win over the strong Eastern side the electricians now have four points to their credit and their future encounters will command even greater attention.

Perhaps it is traditional or just "an old Kowloon custom" but it was not altogether expected Kowloon's win was a pleasant surprise.

Meanwhile at the Valley, Club piled six goals against the Royal Scots who replied with one. Fred Fowler was in fine form and found the net no less than five times, and I consider this a very good afternoon's work for any forward.

ROYAL TRIBUTE
TO WAR DEADBritish Commission
In Italy

King Victor Emmanuel recently received Field-Marshal the Earl of Cavan, Major-
Gen. Sir Fabian Ware, Gen.
Sir George Macdonogh, and members of the Imperial War Graves Commission, who have been visiting the British war cemeteries in Italy.

The visitors drove to San Rosore, the King's summer residence, near Pisa, where Marshal
C. Giglia, an old comrade-in-arms of Lord Cavan, presented them to the King. Later he and Queen Elena entertained them to tea.

Lord Cavan and the other members of the party saw Signor Mussolini and afterwards flew to Turin to catch the Rome-Paris express.

Later, they attended a meeting of the Anglo-Italian Mixed
Committee of the Imperial War
Graves Commission at the Italian United Services Club. The Earl of Perth, British Ambassador in Rome, was present.

"PLANE DROPPED FLOWERS"
The Commission began its visit to the five British cemeteries on the Asiago Plateau Vicen-teries where 91 British soldiers are buried.

They were enthusiastically welcomed all along the roads by crowds of country folk, and at the cemeteries they were received with great hospitality by deputations of the associations of war mothers and widows, juvenile Fascist organisations and the disabled soldiers' association.

The Italian officers placed wreaths on the crosses of remembrance in all the cemeteries.
At Montecchio, Marshal Caviglio placed a wreath on the cross while an aeroplane dropped flowers over the graves. At all places the people cried "Pace, pace" (peace, peace) as they saw the British Commission.

At Monte Belluno the party visited the villa at Franzuolli, which was Lord Cavan's headquarters when he commanded the British Expeditionary Force
in Italy.

a carpenter employed by the Leung Fat Lee Contractors, at present working at Mount Davis Fort.

ROBBED OF MONEY

About 9 p.m. on October 10 Leung was walking along Kennedy Town Praya when he was suddenly seized from behind. Turning round, he received a blow which was alleged to have been struck by second defendant. First defendant was alleged to have searched him and taken $6 from a purse.

After the men had run away he went back to his contractors' shed and told them what had happened and a report was eventually made to the police.

On the following day an identification parade was held at Mount Davis Fort, at which all the men were mustered. First defendant was picked out but not second defendant. Following inquiries, the second man was arrested later the same evening.

It was alleged that second defendant spoke to Gunner Baxter earlier on the day of his arrest and told him he had held up a Chinese male. It was further alleged that he told Gunner Tovey the same.

CORROBORATIVE EVIDENCE

Evidence of preparing plans of the locality was given by Mr. G. H. Gandy of the Public Works Department. Leung Ting gave testimony corroborating the Crown's opening. Mr. H. W. E. Heath, Assistant Superintendent of Police, testified to the identification parade.

Five men of the Royal Artillery gave evidence, and Sergeant Allen concluded the Crown's case by testifying to the arrest of the defendants.

Having been cautioned, Phelan was asked if he wished to say anything.

Defendant: No Sir.
His Worship: You have nothing to say, or you wish to reserve your defence? Nothing, Sir.

Your wish me to put down I have nothing to say?—No, Sir, guilty. I am guilty of the charge.

You wish me to put that down?—Yes, Sir.

Second defendant said he had nothing to say.

SENIOR LEAGUE TEAMS

match and had 25 goals registered against them.

It was the first game played on the new ground at Boundary Road and the Police certainly christened it in bright manner with a four-all victory over the Saints. In the course of the game, J. Pereira, of St. Joseph's, had the misfortune to fall when heading the ball and, believe, fractured his arm.

To-morrow's programme is interesting.

The big match is at Sookunpoo where Middlesex, who had a "rest" last week-end meet South China "B" at 4.15 p.m. The soldiers should take the points although a close match is indicated.

The Royal Scots travel to Caroline Hill where they will be opposed to St. Joseph's and will probably drive home the issue with an odd-goal. The Saints, who have done rather well this season, suffered a bad reverse at the hands of the custodians of the law last week.

The railway ground will be the venue for the meeting between Kowloon and the Police and here another close game should be seen.

The Police, with new blood among their numbers, will be a force to contend with but I think Kowloon will take full points and will probably field the same team that beat South China "B".

Much interest will centre on the Club v. Kwong Wah encounter at Happy Valley and in view of the Valley team's big win last Saturday against the Royal Scots indications point to a win for them although Kwong Wah will give the Club a very good run. Much will depend on whether Fowler, leader of the Club attack, will again strike form as he did last Saturday.

On the same ground on Sunday, Navy will come up against Eastern. The sailors, who lost their proud 100 per cent record to South China "A" after a thrilling match at Caroline Hill last Saturday, will probably beat Eastern providing they return to their short-passing tactics which was mainly instrumental for the Navy's defeat of South China "A" at Causeway Bay a few weeks ago.
